Our Vision

At NEXTDC, our vision is to help enterprises harness the digital age, improving our society through the advancement of technology. We pride ourselves on being a recognisable and trusted brand; operating a national footprint of colocation data centres, that power, secure and connect the enterprise, and provide 100% availability to our customers.

NEXTDC is committed to acting ethically and strives to achieve the highest standard of responsible business practices and sustainability, whilst making a positive impact on the greater community. To do this we focus on integrating sustainability and corporate social responsibility into all aspects of our organisation, valuing integrity, transparency and trust. We aim to proactively identify and manage any potential social, environmental and economic risks that our decisions and activities may create.

The Workplace

Our People

Our people are central to achieving NEXTDC's sustainability and corporate social responsibility vision. We are committed to ensuring:

- We clearly articulate the behaviours we expect of our employees through our values, policies and procedures;
- We maintain a safe and healthy working environment for all employees, customers and visitors;
- We show respect for fundamental human rights and the dignity of people by actively promoting equality and diversity, irrespective of race, ethnic or national origins, gender, sexual orientation, disability, marital status and religious belief; and
- We attract and retain top talent through our sourcing strategies, learning and development opportunities, market-aligned remuneration practices and our focus on inclusion and employee wellbeing.

Our values

Our six values – bright ideas, customer first, frugal not cheap, one team, pursuit of excellence and straight talk – define the behaviour and skills that we expect from all employees; they guide our actions and decisions and reflect our culture.

We encourage our employees to share the stories of their teammates who live our values, and we empower staff to call out actions and behaviours that are inconsistent with our values.

The Environment

NEXTDC is committed to building a more sustainable future and ensuring we focus our attention on measurable objectives to maximise the environmental sustainability of our data centres.

Our dedication to the continuous improvement and delivery of sustainable initiatives is embedded in the way we design, build and operate our facilities. We are committed to:

- Improving energy efficiency by tuning our mechanical and electrical plant (MEP);
- Minimising our impact on the environment and natural resources, including reducing or offsetting our CO2 emissions and our contribution to landfill; and
- Meeting and exceeding the minimum environmental legislative requirements.

The Community

A core part of our culture is our firm belief that companies can do more than just make money, they can give back to their communities and use their success to improve society.

Our 'Live to Give' program aims to embed the concept of giving back into our DNA, providing our people with a sense of pride by recognising that together we can, and will, make a difference in the communities in which we live and work. The program includes:

- A partnership with The Smith Family – NEXTDC directly sponsors students on The Smith Family's 'Learning for Life' program, which provides early intervention and balanced, long-term support to disadvantaged youths;
- Partnerships with Cancer Council Australia, Beyond Blue and UN Women – NEXTDC has an established workplace giving program enabling staff to donate to these charities, with NEXTDC matching employee donations dollar-for-dollar;
- A partnership with Pledge 1% – NEXTDC has made a public commitment to empower our people to devote 1% of their time to giving back to their community; and
- Providing paid volunteer days – NEXTDC provides all employees with one paid volunteer day to allow them time to give back to the charities and community programs they feel passionate about.
